

Goggle-Eyes by Anne Fine

WALT: predict what might happen from details stated and implied so that I can bring what I already know when reading a new story

Being a reader

When I am learning to read, I am decoding words in the text.

p-l-ay-ing

Reading broadens my knowledge and widens my vocabulary, allowing me to link this to my previous and new learning.

When I am learning to read, I practise reading with fluency, intonation and at an appropriate pace.

When I read, I am learning to take meaning from different texts.

I am learning to read because it allows me to make more sense of the world around me.

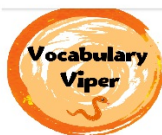

I am learning to read because it gives me the power to develop myself as an individual and as a part of society.

When I am reading, I am igniting my imagination.

When I am reading, I use a range of skills to understand the text

When we read Coraline, we had to use what we already knew about vocabulary to work out the meaning of new words.

In this lesson we will use what we already know about vocabulary and bring our own life experiences to help us to predict what our new story is about.

Goggle-Eyes

What do you think this title means?

What prior knowledge can you bring to your idea?

Goggle-eyed

If someone is goggle-eyed, their eyes are very wide open, usually because of surprise.

Synonyms

round-eyed, shocked, aghast, eyes on stalks

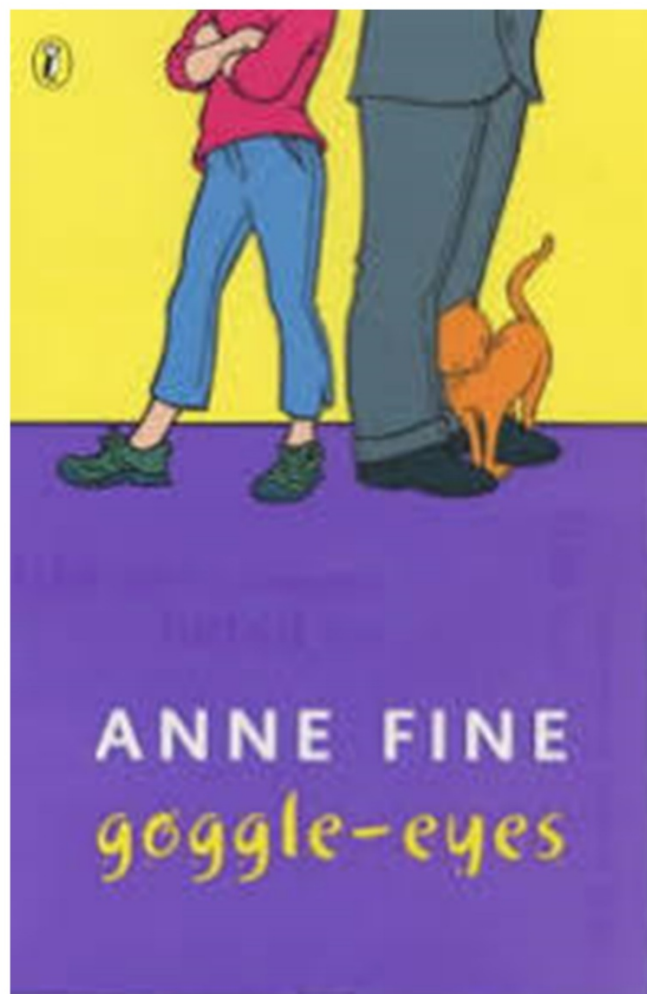

What do you think this story is about?

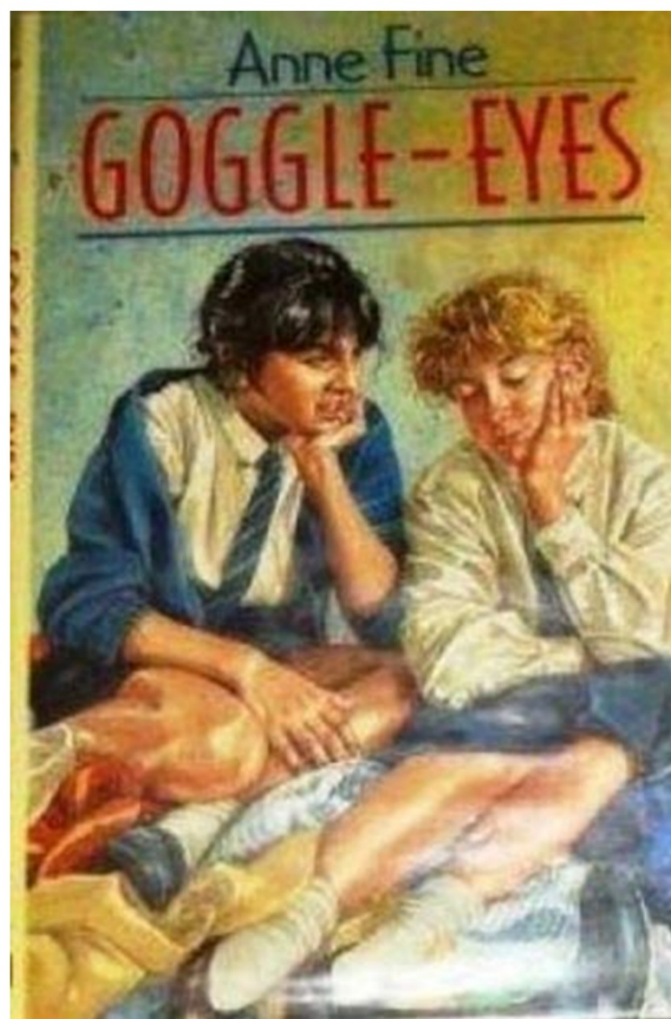

'I think this story is about ... because ...'

Look at the following front covers for this story.

What do they add to your prediction?

Do they change your prediction?

ANNE FINE

ANNE FINE

Goggle-Eyes

Puffin | Modern | Classics

Now let's read the blurb to see if we can infer anything else from what is stated and implied to help us make our prediction.

'When it comes to a story, I just tell
'em better.'

Kitty Killin is not only a good story-teller, but also the World's Great Expert when it comes to mothers having new and unwanted boyfriends. Particularly when there's a danger they might turn into new and unwanted stepfathers ...

'Goggle-Eyes is a winner: witty, sensitive and warm-hearted ... a lovely book' – Guardian

'This author is too much of a treasure to be reserved for children alone' – Independent

Winner of the Carnegie Medal and the Guardian Children's Fiction Award

Use your knowledge of word meaning to predict what might happen in this story.

"When it comes to a story, I just tell 'em better."

Kitty Killin is not only a good story-teller, but also the World's Great Expert when it comes to mothers having new and unwanted boyfriends. Particularly when there's a danger they might turn into new and unwanted stepfathers ...

Goggle-Eyes

I predict that in this story ..

My evidence: